

About the painting

I created this piece of artwork to symbolise the many different pathways and journeys of life. It displays many opportunities to continue the journey after reaching a destination. I believe this reflects the story of the Lawlink programme, as it demonstrates the journeys of our First Nations students, with many opportunities to choose different pathways, both in their legal profession and life in general, while staying true to their culture. As a university student myself, it is programs like this that have given me the opportunities to extend my knowledge further through industry experience, as well as support me through my studies.

About the Artist – Kiri Fabila

Kiri Fabila is a proud descendant of the Djabera Djabera Tribe from the Kimberly in Western Australia. Kiri is studying Bachelor of Medical Laboratory Science at QUT and is scheduled to graduate December 2021. Kiri nominated the Indigenous Literacy Foundation for the Society to donate $500. To read more about the Indigenous Literacy Foundation, please see - <https://www.indigenoussliteracyfoundation.org.au/>